On September 29, 2016, at approximately 6:32AM, Flor Angelina JUAREZ, the driver of a white 2012 Volkswagen Jetta displaying Texas plates GXD-4967 entered the United States at the Anzalduas Port of Entry in Mission, Texas. JUAREZ presented her United States Passport to CBPO Jose Pena Jr. When the vehicle's license plate was automatically queried through the vehicle license plate reader, a lookout was received for narcotics smuggling.

During primary interview, JUAREZ stated that she was coming from Reynosa and was in route to work at Metro PCS in Harlingen. JUAREZ said that she visits and stays with her mother several times a week in Reynosa, Tamps., Mexico. JUAREZ said that she was the owner of the VW Jetta and had purchased it in February of this year. While questioning JUAREZ, CBPO Pena noticed that she was displaying nervous behavior, avoiding eye contact and being very talkative when being questioned about her vehicle. JUAREZ began to explain in detail how she had already been inspected the day prior and didn't think it was necessary for the inspection again. CBPO J. Pena obtained a negative declaration for plants, fruits, meats, vegetables, alcohol, tobacco, firearms, ammunition, narcotics and money or monetary instruments in excess of $10,000 USD and escorted JUAREZ to CBP secondary for further inspection.

CBPO J. Pena informed X-Ray operator CBPO M. Hange of the narcotic lookout on JUAREZ and the VW Jetta. The VW Jetta was x-rayed and anomalies were discovered concealed within the center console. CBP Canine Officer Roberto Olivares and his narcotic dog Canine "Hyro" #141360 conducted an intensive search of the vehicle. CBPO Olivares advised that his Canine "Hyro" had alerted to the presence of narcotic odor within the center console. CBPO J. Torres discovered some tampering to the center console. Further inspection revealed packages concealed within the center console of the VW Jetta. A total of fifteen (15) packages were taken out of the center console and CBP officers discovered a white powdery substance within the packages which field tested positive for cocaine. The total weight of the fifteen (15) packages was 17.46 kilograms.

SA Ralph Garza, Jr. arrived at the Anzalduas POE to interview JUAREZ, but she declined to comment.
